A missile fragment pierced the ceiling of Mikhail Shcherbakov's apartment in Kharkiv, Ukraine's second largest city. A Russian attack, after weeks of warnings, had hit home. "I heard noise and woke up. I realised it sounded like artillery," Shcherbakov told Associated Press. He jumped from the couch and ran to wake up his mother, and something exploded behind him.

The missile left a nearby computer and teacup shrouded with dust, instant artifacts of Europe's latest crisis. At dawn on Thursday, Ukrainians' uneasy efforts at normality were shattered. Smoke rose from cities, even well away from the country's disputed eastern border. Cold War II has just begun.

Bloodshed, tears, explosions and sirens shattered the peace as Russia mounted a full-scale invasion of the country after days of back-and-forth posturing. The West immediately stepped in and condemned Russian President Vladimir Putin's move to "demilitarise" Ukraine. Russia claimed that its military had destroyed more than 70 military targets including 11 airfields in Ukraine. "As a result of strikes carried out by the Russian armed forces, 74 Ukrainian military ground facilities were destroyed," said Igor Konashenkov, a defence ministry spokesman, specifying that 11 airfields were destroyed.

Russian and Ukrainian forces are locked in an intense battle for control of an airbase on the northern outskirts of Kyiv, a senior Ukrainian officer said Thursday, as dozens of attack helicopters swooped on the area. "Fighting is under way for Gostomel airfield," armed forces chief Valeriy Zaluzhny said in a message posted on Facebook. Shortly earlier, AFP reporters had seen helicopters flying low over the city from the north.

The attack triggered Western warnings of unprecedented sanctions against Russia as NATO, EU and G7 leaders condemned the invasion and vowed to hold Moscow accountable.

In a late night media briefing US President Joe Biden said, "Putin is the aggressor. Putin chose this war. And now he and his country will bear the consequences."

He said the US will impose new sanctions that will target four more Russian banks not included in the first tranche of sanctions, including VTB, the country's second-largest bank.

"This will impose severe costs on the Russian economy both immediately and over time," Biden said.

Britain too unveiled tough new sanctions targeting Russia, freezing the assets of Russian bank VTB and arms manufacturer Rostec, sanctions on five more oligarchs close to Putin including his former son-in-law Kirill Shamalov, and banning Aeroflot from British airspace. (With inputs from agencies)

Modi talks to Putin, urges immediate end to violence

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

AMID Russian offensive in Ukraine, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday spoke with Russian President Vladimir Putin and appealed for an immediate cessation of violence. Modi reiterated his long-standing conviction that differences between nations should be resolved through dialogue. Putin briefed Modi about the recent developments.

India has brought 4,000 citizens stranded in Ukraine, foreign secretary Harsh Sringla said during a press briefing. "Out of the 20,000 Indians who live in Ukraine, a large number constitutes students, and we managed to bring back 4,000. We have set up control rooms in India and Kyiv to support Indians and are exploring all options to bring them back,'' he said. Around 250 students have taken shelter in schools. They will be evacuated westwards, Shringla said.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar spoke to his counterparts in Poland, Romania, Slovakia and Hungary on the matter. Modi chaired a meeting of the Cabinet Committee on Security that was attended by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, Home Minister Amit Shah and Jaishankar.

Air India flight turned back due to Russian operation

A special Air India plane sent to Ukraine to bring back Indians stranded there had to turn back and return to Delhi after it was told that Ukrainian air space was closed due to Russian military operation. A NOTAM (notice to airmen) was sent by Ukranian authorities to all flights heading to the country stating that flights of civil aircraft "are restricted due to potential hazard for civil aviation"

Hundreds of students stuck, hope to be rescued ASAP

Hundreds of students from across India are caught in Ukraine with many sending frantic messages back home to rescue them from the uncertain situation. They have been told by the embassy to stay calm and move to the western part of the country on their own. Some of the students are a little too close to the war. Investors lose ₹13 lakh crore as markets plunge

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

ON a day when Russian President Vladimir Putin launched a full-scale invasion of Ukraine, the Nifty and Sensex fell the most in 23 months, wiping out a whopping ₹13.28 lakh crore of investor wealth.

The Nifty's 815-point fall and the Sensex's 2,702-point plunge on Thursday mean that both frontline indices have now entered correction territory, closing more than 10% off their record highs in October last year. The Nifty and Sensex, after Thursday's closing at 16,247.95 and 54,529.91, were trading 12.66% and 12.39%, respectively below their October 2021 record highs.

Calling the Ukrainian crisis an extraordinary event, Vikas Khemani, co-founder of Carnelian Asset Management, advised "waiting on the sidelines" for a week before buying on any dip. Rohit Srivastava, founder of IndiaCharts, expects the next supports to kick in at 16,000 for Nifty and 53,600 for Sensex.

The fallout from the invasion, besides roiling global stock markets, drove up commodity prices significantly. Underscoring the uncertain sentiment in the market, fear gauge India Vix closed up 30% at 31.98, the highest close in 18 months. A reading above 20 signals high bearishness.

"WE can hear the sounds of bombs exploding from our hostel, it's terrible and scary. We were told to run to the nearest underground metro station if we hear any warning sirens. Staying underground is safer and the nearest place for us to seek shelter is some 200 metres away from the hostel," a nervy Kiran Savadi, studying his first-year medicine at the Kharkiv National Medical University, Kharkiv in Ukraine, told TNIE.

Kiran, who hails from Banahatti in Bagalkot district, landed in Ukraine in December last year.

"Initially, everything was good. In fact, we were attending college till Wednesday. On Thursday morning, we were jolted from sleep around 5 am to the sounds of bombing. More than 30 students are from Karnataka in our hostel and many of them had booked flight on February 24, 26 and 27. But those who went to the airport on Thursday (Feb 24), had to return. We are getting messages frequently from the Indian embassy and other authorities not to step out," he said. P4

Covid-19 effect: Summer hols cut short by 2 weeks

Decision was taken to launch a 'Learning Recovery Programme'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AMIDST growing concern over children's academic wellbeing due to multiple lockdowns, summer vacations have been shortened for school students by more than two weeks.

Summer vacations will start on April 10 and end on May 15, a circular released by the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) on Thursday stated. The 2021-2022 academic year will end on April 9, and the 2022-23 academic year will begin on May 16, for both primary and secondary schools. The circular said that the decision was taken to launch a 'Learning Recovery Programme', to make up for the academic loss due to multiple lockdowns.

"The learning in schools has been impeded due to the closing of schools during the academic years 2019 to 2022. Though education has been offered through alternative channels like online classes, this approach does not make up for the loss of learning in schools," the circular said.

Earlier, academic years were from May 29 to April 10, with summer vacations from April 11 to May 28. The department states that the academic year must have a minimum of 220 school days, including appropriate allotment for extracurricular activities. Also, the department has said that annual exams for the academic year 2021-22 will be held in accordance with the curriculum completed at school-level. A separate circular on school annual activities will be issued for 2022-23, and the 'Learning Recovery Programme' or Setu Bandha/ Bridge Courses, will be implemented to help students overcome the learning gap.

March deadline set for Smart City work

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

The urban development department's additional chief secretary, Rakesh Singh has said that the deadline for engineers and contractors to complete the Smart City work on Avenue Road is March.

However, the vendors and trade bodies said that this is yet another deadline, and work will be done sluggishly.

On Thursday, Singh inspected the Smart City work from Mysuru Bank Circle to SJP Road, a stretch of 1.02 km. He said that as per the request of the water board, work of laying of pipes on both sides of the roads needs to be undertaken.

"The works should be completed before March-end. Also, pedestrians must be able to use the footpaths. Contractors must ensure that there is no inconvenience to citizens," he said.

Contractors and engineers have also been directed to undertake beautification of Doddapete circle and fire fighting station installation following the request of the vendors, he said.

There should also be proper parking facilities for people and pedestrian-friendly spaces, he added. "Deadlines are not adhered to because each time a footpath is laid and the road is tarred, it is dug open for utility works like water lines, clogged drain, pipelines or taps going dry. So there is no guarantee. Due to poor civil work, business of many commercial units on this prime CBD stretch has been affected," said a trader. The vendors also point out that slow pace of work has led to spike in air pollution, deplorable congestion and accidents. "For the work to be completed on time without any problems, an engineer should be deputed only for the stretch, to be present round-the- clock for monitoring daily progress," added a vendor.

College: No turban issue on campus

ENS @Bengaluru

With the ongoing hijab controversy, Muslim students at a PU college in Bengaluru questioned the decision to allow turbans in classes, but not hijabs. To avoid any issues, the college held discussions with students to intimate them on the details of the Karnataka High Court interim order.

Girls at Mount Carmel PU College had been regularly coming to college with their hijabs and removing them before entering classrooms. "There were no issues with the interim order, there are around 300 Muslim students in college and we have a separate room for them to change. However, the question of why turbans are not ordered to be removed, was raised by a few girls," said Babitha Saldanha, college principal.

According to Saldanha, the issue was raised repeatedly after the college opened on February 14, and again on Tuesday when Deputy Director of Pre-University Education (DDPUE), Bengaluru North, G K Sriram, visited the college for a routine check. The college asked the Sikh girl about the viability of removing her turban to attend classes, according to Saldanha. After she stated that the turban was sacred and she had been baptised according to Sikh customs, the college did not push for its removal.

IISc comes up with MSc in Life Sciences, with an array of electives

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

THE two pandemic years have shown the power of science to shape and understand the world, and pushed healthcare and life science professionals to the forefront. To provide more opportunities in this sector, India's top research institute Indian Institute of Science (IISc) is coming up with a unique Masters in Life Sciences, which has interesting options for students to design their own Masters combinations.

"We are very excited about this year. IISc is coming up with many courses. About Masters in Life Sciences, we felt we should be training more students in different ways. What is missing is a Masters programme for students who are not looking for a Ph.D, which is a long-term commitment, but to get into the job market with a Masters degree in hand," said Associate Prof Maria Thaker to TNIE, one of the coordinators for the programme along with Prof Deepak Saini.

There is a need to create modern scientists with an opportunity for students to design their own Masters programme streams, and IISc's MSc Life Sciences offers specialisation with a vast selection of electives like Neuroscience and Behaviour, Microbiology and Infectious Diseases, Cell and Developmental Biology, Ecology and Evolution, and Biochemistry and Biophysics.

Prof Thaker explains that the curriculum has been designed with everybody in mind. The IISc faculty have worked together, discussed immediate needs and how unique the course can be made. The prerequisite for the course is a Bachelor's degree or equivalent in physical, chemical or biological sciences, qualification in JAM/GATE for native students and GRE/GATE for international students. While it will be only 50 students per year, selection for the two-year course will have merit-based ranking, written test and interview.

"The electives are coming from our existing pool of courses. We thought about what is needed in this country. There is also climate change happening. So we wanted to think of a modern scientist who can go out there in the world and make some actual discoveries, changes, research," Prof Thaker says.

'Costly bus fares have social impact'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A recent assessment and public hearing organised by Bengaluru Bus Prayanikara Vedike (BBPV) has shown that high bus fares and service gaps cause multifarious social and economic impacts.

The survey shows that these issues affect livelihoods, health care and education.

Service gaps and poor quality of service of buses are extremely pronounced in poorer neighbourhoods inhabited by marginalised communities whereas well-to-do areas often have better service and better quality of buses.

Citing an example, Cynthia Stephen, a social activist, speaking to media on Thursday said that for working class neighbourhoods like Hegde Nagar and Tannery Road, the buses are always overcrowded because of low frequency of buses.

However, middle class localities like Vijayanagar have good quality buses at reasonable frequency providing connectivity across the city.

The assessment also showed that despite higher ridership in buses as compared to Metro, state government is prioritising and spending more money on Metro used by fewer people and ignoring the investment needed in public bus services.

Fare scheme of BMTC prices short trips disproportionately high. Student passes, being route specific, limit mobility for students too, said Vinay K Sreenivasa, a Vedike member.

PETER VIDAL

25th February : Let me look at Gemini today. Geminian people are often the liveliest on the planet – and they are certainly the wittiest. Listen to a Gemini speak and you'll be amazed how they can give a simple word a thousand different meanings. Many of them hilarious!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This is very much a time to behave in accord with your true nature, and not necessarily let everyone else know what you are thinking. However, in financial discussions, you must take the right people into your confidence. And, after the last few days, that might not be easy!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Sometimes it's in your interests to refuse to be pushed. It is fortunate indeed that you didn't agree to a final settlement some time ago, because what is now on offer could well be the genuine article. And the last thing you want to do is turn down a golden opportunity.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
By all means off-load some of your family responsibilities, if only because now other people must shoulder their fair share of the burden. You need more time by yourself to pursue your own private interests. But time, at the moment, is a commodity in short supply.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Hopefully you should now be able to establish considerably more control over career and cash matters. You may even be prepared to concede that a recent struggle was not such a bad thing at all. You have to face the truth, but not at the cost of your own happiness.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Even when life is going well you must make sure that you aren't getting out of your depth. If you are already stretched to the limit, do not put yourself out or try to defend those who have only themselves to blame for their current rather sticky predicaments.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Both your emotional needs and long-term financial arrangements are coming under scrutiny. Differences over spending priorities may be a cause of friction with partners or colleagues. On the other hand, if you stick to romantic encounters you could have a splendid time.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
It may seem inconceivable that you were ever distraught over an emotional or partnership problem. Now you may switch your attention to more immediate matters, like how to pay for your current plans - and how to persuade people you live with that you know what you're talking about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
All your instincts and hunches urge you to keep major plans to a minimum, including travel proposals. Do not expect colleagues, friends or relatives to turn up trumps on your behalf. Only you can ultimately secure the goals that are now so important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may have come to feel that partners or close associates have only themselves to blame for a dilemma. However, that is no reason at all to be too proud to refuse to offer a helping hand. After all, there are people out there who have done you a good turn in the past.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It seems to be some time since you were truly encouraged to prove just how independent and strong-willed you can be. However, now you must realise that being assertive is not the same as being self-interested. Above all, this is a moment for a complete and totally fresh start in every area of your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Current planetary activity denotes that certain childish and unenlightened individuals have been unable or unwilling to appreciate your true gifts. Ignore such insults and carry on with what you know to be right. Your grasp of the underlying truth is one of your gifts at the moment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Consider settling your differences and accept an offer which allows you greater freedom to practise your skills. It is not in your nature to take on a role which denies you the chance to be an individual. However, it is now in your interests to work for a much better world.

Docs remove tumour spreading from uterus in 14-hr surgery

Without treatment, it had the potential to reach the lungs and lead to death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

A 47-year-old woman from Odisha presented with a rare condition called Intravenous Leiomyomatosis (IVL), of which only 300 cases are reported worldwide. The woman initially sought treatment in Bengaluru for a tumour that developed in her uterus. Her symptoms included heaviness in the abdomen, pressure on rectum, bladder and difficulty passing urine and motion. Even activities such as walking caused fatigue.

An evaluation by doctors found that she was suffering from IVL, a condition wherein the tumour grew from the uterus, spread to the inferior vena cava (the vein that carries deoxygenated blood to the heart) and went right up to the heart. The tumour was growing and had the potential to reach the lungs and lead to death.

"A clot (thrombus) had spread from the inferior vena cava to the heart, resulting in lesser blood flow to the lungs, causing difficulty in breathing. The tumour was around 20x18 cm in the abdomen, and had spread further to 21cm. The long serpentine shaped clot had started impacting the functioning of her heart," said Dr Rohit Ranade, Consultant, Gynaec Oncology and Robotic assisted surgeries, Narayana Health City.

A marathon 14-hour surgery was performed with the help of five doctors from three specialities. The primary mass or tumour was removed from the uterus and pelvis, along with the uterus itself. "There was a huge chance of bleeding and required separation of blood vessels near the liver. Apart from being a rare condition, another challenge was the development of new blood vessels which were never heard of or seen before in the human anatomy. We opened the heart and took out the clot," said Dr Ranade.

She was discharged within seven days of surgery, post which she underwent regular follow-ups and observation.

Mahadevapura to get govt hospital

BENGALURU: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday laid the foundation stone for a government multispeciality hospital in Mahadevapura zone.

"Important government hospitals like Victoria, Bowring and KC General are on one side of the city. After they were built, no new government hospitals were opened in Bengaluru. Now, we have decided to open a multispeciality hospital in Mahadevapura zone," Bommai said after launching various developmental works in the zone.

The CM also launched the construction of the Marathahalli police station and HAL Airport traffic police station at a cost of Rs 6.19 crore, both of which will be funded by BMRCL. He also launched the Clean Street 75K programme which will focus on garbage-free roads among others. ENS

Maldivian treated for rare condition

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 22-year-old Maldivian national successfully underwent Sacral Nerve Stimulation surgery at the Yeshwantpur branch of Manipal Hospitals. The woman was afflicted with a rare disorder known as Neuromyelitis Optica, or Devic's disease, where the immune system attacks the spinal cord and optic nerve. She was also afflicted with a connective tissue disorder that affected her lower limbs, and faced multiple issues, including blurry vision, urine retention and partial paralysis of the legs that led to difficulty in walking.

She had been treated for the condition and had most symptoms under control. However, due to her paralysis leading to bladder incontinence and decreased bladder sensation, she underwent the surgery, which is an uncommon practice in India. "This had affected her quality of life, restricting her travel, effective participation in daily household and other social activities. Moreover, self-catheterisation is painful and is increases risk of infection. She came to us seeking help for an effective and permanent solution to her bladder issues," said Dr Guruprasad Hosurkar, consultant neurologist.

Just 24 hours after the procedure, the patient was able to regain sensation in her bladder, with no adverse effects. "The InterStim Therapy, also known as Sacral Nerve Stimulation surgery, has existed for 20 years but not used extensively in India due to lack of awareness. This is the first time we carried out InterStim Therapy at Manipal," said Dr Raghuram.

FINANCIAL LOSSES PUSH MAN TO KILL DAUGHTER, END LIFE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FACING financial losses due to the pandemic, a 39-year-old businessman killed his seven-year-old daughter before ending his life at their house in Hebbagodi on Wednesday evening. The deceased are Vijay Kumar of Tamil Nadu and Sameeksha, a Class 2 student.

A senior police officer said Kumar used to run a fabrication factory and had faced huge losses in the Covid lockdowns. In desperation, he strangled Sameeksha with a wire and then hanged himself. His wife Chandrakala returned from the factory and found the bodies. Kumar left no suicide note, and, based on a complaint by Chandrakala, Hebbagodi police registered a case.

The family had come to the city 20 years ago. Kumar's parents work in the railway department and stay in Electronic City.

POLICE APPROACH WHATSAPP, SEEK HARSHA'S CALL, CHAT DETAILS

2 more held taking total arrests to 10; School, colleges to reopen in Shivamogga tomorrow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

POLICE investigating the Harsha murder case have written to WhatsApp seeking chat and call details of the Bajrang Dal activist who was killed in Shivamogga on Sunday night. The 26-year-old's mobile phone is yet to be traced.

Meanwhile, the police on Thursday arrested two more people in connection with Harsha's killing taking the total number of people arrested to 10. Deputy Commissioner R Selvamani said that schools and colleges will reopen in Shivamogga on Saturday.

According to the police, the arrested have been identified as Abdul Roshan alias RC (24) , a resident of Bhadravati and Jafar Sadique alias Badruddin alias Badri (55), a resident of Wadi-e-Huda in Shivamogga city. The police also seized two cars and one two-wheeler.

Scientific investigation is on, said the police in a press release. As one of Harsha's friends had revealed that two girls had video-called the latter minutes before his murder, police are searching for his mobile phone as it is likely to provide vital information.

Superintendent of Police B M Laxmi Prasad told TNIE that Harsha's phone was still missing and search is on to trace it. He said that the police have recorded the statement of Harsha's friends. One of Harsha's friends claimed that two girls had video-called Harsha repeatedly even though he did not know them and disconnected the calls. He said that a few moments after the video calls, miscreants attacked Harsha.

"We have recorded the friend's statement. We will also record statements of Harsha's family once they come to terms with the grief," the SP said. He also said that eight people have been arrested so far.

Meanwhile, the situation in Shivamogga was largely peaceful on Thursday. People rushed to purchase essentials like milk, ration, fruits and vegetables when the curfew was lifted between 6am and 8 am.

Police had barricaded sensitive areas to prevent the movement of people. Heavy bandobast of police and RAF personnel was made around the residence of Harsha and other sensitive locations.

Banks and government offices functioned as usual. "No untoward incident has been reported in the city in the last 24 hours. The situation is under control," the SP added.

Four days after the mayhem, Lal Band Keri wears a deserted look

MARX TEJASWI @ Shivamogga

LOCKED doors, soot sticking to the ground after arson, and damaged window panes grab the attention of those entering Lal Band Keri — the locality whose residents fled after an angry mob ran amok after the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha. According to the residents, the tiny locality is home to 25 houses and apart from one family, the remaining are Muslims.

Lal Band Keri is located on the banks of the Tunga river in the heart of Shivamogga city. Sources say the families locked their houses and left for the safe of their relatives' homes, soon after the violent incidents.

When TNIE visited Lal Band Keri on Thursday, the correspondent noticed that window panes of houses were damaged, and there were marks of attacks on the doors of a few houses. The entire locality wore a deserted look. Soot from burnt vehicles was also visible on the road.

"Though we have been residing here for more than 60 years, this is the first time such an incident has happened. We have been living in harmony," says Baburao Jadhav, a transport businessman residing close to the locality. He said that miscreants set fire to vehicles and threw stones at houses.

Dinesh Chavan, another resident whose house is attached to the locality, also said the mob pelted his house with stones. The situation was tense on the night of February 20 and the next afternoon.

Shaharaz Siddiqui, spokesperson of the Joint Action Committee, said that families are taking shelter at relatives' houses. "Daily wage labourers and their families live in the locality. They work as masons, in textile shops, as tile labourers etc. The government should compensate them for the damage," he said.

JAC seeks judicial probe

SHIVAMOGGA: The Joint Action Committee (JAC) has demanded a judicial inquiry into the incidents surrounding the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha and has sought action against leaders issuing provocative statements. Condemning Harsha's murder, the committee has also demanded compensation to Harsha's family as well as to those affected by violent incidents in the aftermath of the killing. JAC spokesperson Shaharaz Siddiqui told the media here on Thursday that RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa and other BJP leaders should be booked for their provocative statements. "Eshwarappa and MP BY Raghavendra took part in Harsha's funeral procession. Even though Section 144 was in place, a huge procession was allowed by the police. It is a failure of the intelligence wing. Miscreants pelted stones at houses and burnt vehicles. The entire procession looked as if it was sponsored by the government. The police failed to control the mob," he alleged. JAC leaders also urged the government not to file cases against those who retaliated when their houses and families were attacked. ENS

Rahul meets state leaders, talks 2023 polls, polarisation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER AICC president and Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Thursday cautioned against anyone seeking to communalise and polarise Karnataka by raking up emotional issues and seeking to divide society, and said the Congress party has to be watchful against such attempts.

He was speaking at a meeting with Karnataka leaders, including CLP leader Siddaramaiah, KPCC president D K Shivakumar, Opposition leader in the Council B K Hariprasad, Congress working president Saleem Ahmed and others. They expressed concern about attempts to polarise an otherwise peaceful state.

Congress General Secretary, Organising, K C Venugopal and General Secretary in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala spoke about strengthening the Congress at the grassroots, especially in the districts and taluks. Leaders have been asked to go out and hold meetings and programmes to strengthen the party, considering there is just over a year left for elections, and the party has taken up a huge membership drive across the state.

The Congress discussed the recent five-day protest in the legislature and submission of a memorandum to the governor on the insult to the National Flag. Revamp of the party, which is long overdue, was also discussed. Prior to this meeting, Rahul Gandhi met Opposition leader in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, Siddaramaiah and D K Shivakumar. Sources said that discussions with the top three leaders revolved around the significance of their unity ahead of the 2023 assembly polls, since they represent the Dalit, AHINDA and Vokkaliga communities respectively. Unity is much needed while raising issues and finalising candidates, sources added.

The 40-minute meeting also discussed how to tackle the BJP's politics on religion, in the run-up to the 2023 polls, another source said.

No hike in excise duty on liquor, says Gopalaiah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EXCISE Minister K Gopalaiah on Thursday clarified that there is no proposal before the State Government to hike excise duty on liquor. Speaking to the media following the pre-budget meeting with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, he said that the CM has promised to give a face lift to the department after considering the state's financial condition.

Bommai promised to sort out the issues related to harassment in the department, hike in the salaries, and complaints regarding violation of guidelines while issuing licenses under CL7 and CL9 categories, he added.

The CM has also instructed the commissioner concerned to take stringent action against the spurious liquor racket and suppliers from outside, he said, adding that officials who are involved will be suspended.

"Tomorrow I will again have a discussion with the CM and the finance secretary. Certain demands of the department have also been brought to CM's notice and he has promised to respond positively either in the budget or later," he elaborated. The increase in the commission for the sellers would also be considered, he added. "The department has collected a whopping Rs 23,247 crore revenue despite the pandemic and expected to cross Rs 25,000 crore in the financial year, surpassing the target set," he said.

Gopalaiah clarified that there is no question of quitting the BJP and scotched rumours that the 17 MLAs who had quit the JD(S) and Congress to help BJP form the government will return to their old parties. He also clarified that no leaders from the Congress and JDS are in touch with him.

"IF there is any warning siren, we have been told to hide in an underground metro station which is close to our hostel," Kiran said. Likhitha L Gowda, who hails from Bengaluru, is stuck there too. "It's just three metro stops from our hostel to the college. We can see only soldiers on the roads. There are long queues at supermarkets and ATMs, while banks are closed. It took us over 1.5 hour to get groceries," she said.

Back home, parents of students stuck there are worried. Divyashree, whose daughter Suhani is studying medicine at Danylo Halytsky Lviv National Medical University, said, "She was supposed take a flight at 3.30 pm. But, on Thursday morning, they heard some commotion and left the hostel by 7.30 am. When they reached the airport, everything was shut. They were told that there are no flights.'' "We urge the Centre to bring them back India. We are hoping for some help from them," she added.

Get us back, request Davanagere students

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Davanagere

THREE students from Davanagere, who are residing in Chernistvi city in western Ukraine and studying at the Bukovinian State Medical University, are anxious about their return. Another student from Chitradurga is stuck at Kyiv after a bomb explosion near the airport.Misba Noor from Chitradurga landed in Chernistvi from Sharjah only on Wednesday. She was in for a shock on Thursday morning when news of the war broke out in her hostel. She immediately stopped unpacking and has decided to return.

Speaking to TNIE, Mohammed Abid Ali said, 'The first thing I did on getting to know about the war was to store food and I have enough to last a month. However, I faced hardship in getting the Ukrainian hryvnia currency as almost all ATMs in the locality have run dry and people are standing in long queues."

"We have contacted the Indian Student Society, which is in constant touch with the Indian embassy in Ukraine and neighbouring Romania so that we can reach our motherland safely. They have also informed us that the Indian embassy will arrange for buses for evacuation of Indians in Ukraine and we hope to reunite with our parents soon," he said.

To a question on whether he had contacted his family, Ali said, "I spoke to my father, Prof Shoukath Ali, and he boosted my confidence and told me not to panic."

Syeeda Habeeba, another student at the same university, is anxious. She collected some food items from a nearby supermarket and also some currency. "I am clueless about what to do next. However, I am in constant touch with my family and other Indian students who are planning to reach Romania." Her father Syed Ashfaqulla is a businessman and she is the first in her family to study MBBS.

Suneha Thippeswamy, a student from Chitradurga, is stuck in Kyiv. She was to return to India. But when she was about to enter the airport, there was an explosion. She quickly took shelter at a friend's house in Kyiv.

Worried parents keep in touch with daughters

ENS @ Belagavi

TWO female medical students from Belagavi, Priya Bhagavant Nidagundi and Amogha Chougula, and Suchitra Mallangouda Kavadimatti from Vijayapura are among the several students from Karnataka stuck in Ukraine.

The girls are currently holded up in their hostel. According to the families, the girls from Belagavi had booked a return flight on February 26 while Suchitra had booked a flight on March 3. But now, with international flights either running full or suspended, there is uncertainty over their return. Priya is from Kankanwadi village in Raibag taluk while Amogha is from Ghataprabha in Gokak taluk. Suchitra is from Tamadaddi village, Talikoti taluk in Vijaypura district.

Suchitra's father Mallangouda Kavadimatti said, "I'm in regular touch with my daughter through video call. She is fine at present, but we are worried about the situation in Ukraine. We request the government to bring our daughter back home safely."

Belagavi Deputy Commissioner MG Hiremath said that he is in touch with the parents of the both girls. "The parents are in touch with their daughters. Both are safe and fine. They said that they have booked a flight for February 26. I have also emailed the External Affairs Ministry for the safe return of the students," he added.

Burqa not essential in Islam, but hijab is: Girls' counsel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PURDAH or burqa may not be an essential practice but a headscarf or hijab is an essential part of Islam, and two judgments of the Kerala High Court and the Madras High Court, which has gone through Islamic verses and scriptures, have arrived at this conclusion, senior counsel Devadatt Kamat told the Karnataka High Court.

Besides this, none of the counsels appearing for the government have disputed these judgments, said Kamat, who is representing the Muslim girl students from Udupi. He was responding to arguments made on behalf of the State government, Government PU College for Girls at Udupi, College Development Council and other authorities of the college.

He also argued that counsels representing the respondents have not cited a single judgment of any court in the country, saying that headscarf is not an essential practice of Islam, but he has submitted several judgments to support the claim.

Contending that the government order banning the wearing of hijab is illegal, he argued that there is no legal restriction on exercising this right under Article 25(1). The court asked how he can insist to wearing hijab in an institution where uniform is prescribed, which right has been infringed, and the same has to be established. In reply, Kamat argued that "my rights flow from the Quran".

Senior counsel AM Dar, representing students, including one from a private college, argued that "wearing of the hijab is a commandment from Allah and hence it is a religious practice".

Allowing students to wear hijab doesn't affect anybody's right, he added, pointing out that students are now barred from attending classes for wearing hijab. A counsel representing a teacher of the college argued that prescribing uniform is to bring about equality, and the impugned order is not intended to interfere with religious practice.

Meanwhile, Advocate-General Prabhuling K Navadagi submitted the status of investigation into the complaint filed over a threat to a teacher of Government PU College in Udupi by an organisation, and events leading to the controversy, in a sealed cover.

Udupi college students refuse to remove hijab

UDUPI: Despite the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday orally clarifying that whether it is a degree or a PU college, the prescribed uniform should be followed till further instruction is given in the form of final verdict, about 25 degree students at MGM college, Udupi, argued with the college authorities that they should be allowed inside classrooms with hijab. Along with these degree students, a lone post-graduate course student was also asked to enter the classroom without hijab. However, the principal, citing the court's interim order, told them that they cannot wear hijab during class hours. When these students did not leave the campus, the principal told the students either to attend classes by following court's interim order or to leave the campus. ENS

GATES LAUDS INDIA'S VAX COVERAGE

'India can be reserve for future pandemics by using new platforms like mRNA'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

BILL Gates, co-chair of Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and co-founder of Microsoft, on Thursday lauded the Indian partners for developing and deploying the vaccines and said that health is going to be one of the most high-growth areas in the country.

"India did two things that stand out -- creating great vaccines with global partners, including the Gates Foundation and getting those vaccines out. India's vaccine coverage is very impressive, which is even better than most rich countries. That's quite phenomenal", he commented.

During a fireside chat with IT & Industries Minister KT Rama Rao, Gates imparted his learnings from the pandemic-stricken years, enunciating the importance of building new capacities for equitable health with contemporary tools to ensure that the world is prepared when the next pandemic strikes.

He spoke on using new platforms like mRNA and building up the capacity in India as a reserve for future pandemics. This will also augment efforts in preparing vaccines for some of the most difficult diseases like HIV, tuberculosis, and malaria, he said.

KTR's reference to his prediction of a pandemic back in 2015, Gates commented on the next big potential crisis,"It is likely to be a respiratory virus, with all the human travel we now have, that's the one that can spread in such a rapid way".

Gates emphasized that there is a need for the world to spend more on R&D, and infectious disease. "Infectious disease is quite modest when compared to cancer or a heart or neurological disease, and yet this pandemic is a reminder that we have to do a better job on those too."

Addressing KTR's observation of Antimicrobial resistance (AMR) being a sustainable development problem, Gates said, "The international health metrics estimate 1.3 million deaths attributed to this microbial resistance. We see AMR for pneumonia, typhoid, and for women who are delivering, which is an incredible tragedy."

In a rapid fire session, KTR asked Gates what is his next big cure looking at? "I still look at the HIV cure to be at the top of the list. Although I would say that malnutrition is still a huge problem. In the next ten years we will have some breakthroughs," Gates said.

71% of Kerala returnees from Gulf still jobless

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ T'Puram

AROUND three-fourth of the emigrant workers from Kerala, who had to come back due to the Covid crisis, are yet to find an occupation here, says a study commissioned by the Centre for Development Studies (CDS) here. Nine out of 10 returnees prefer to go back to a foreign country as they believe they can find a regular job there and save decent sum only abroad.

The study titled Covid-19 Pandemic and Exodus of Keralite Emigrant Workers from the Gulf led by economist B A Prakash found that 71% of the returnees have not found any job yet. The rest work as casual labourers, autorickshaw drivers or small-time traders. The findings were presented at the 'Conference on Kerala and the World Economy' organised by CDS on Thursday.A total of 404 returnees belonging to six panchayats and five municipalities in Kannur, Kozhikode, Malappuram, Pathanamthitta and T-puram districts were interviewed for the study. Those who had worked in Saudi Arabia were affected the most as 50% of the returnees were from that country. While 19% were from the UAE, 11% were from Qatar, 7% each were from Oman and Bahrain and 6% from Kuwait.

The study estimated that 14.71 lakh Keralites had returned due to Covid-crisis.

Wet laundry on power lines holds up trains at Channapatna

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A whimsical wind and some stray laundry played havoc with train schedules on Thursday afternoon, and passengers on board the Basava Express and Shatabdi Express were not amused. They were held up for a good 55 minutes at Channapatna station, after cautious locopilots brought the trains to a halt.

According to sources, when the Basava Express was about to depart from Ramanagara Station at 2.55pm, the loco-pilot noticed clothes strung on the Over Head Equipment (OHE) and as a precautionary step, brought the Mysuru-Bagalkot Basava Express to a halt. As did the pilot of the Mysuru-Chennai Shatabdi Express, travelling along the same route.

Buffetted by the breeze, clothes hung out to dry by people living near Ramanagara Station were hoisted on to overhead electrical wires that supply power to trains.

A railway official told TNIE that the OHE supplies 25KV power to the loco via a contact surface between them. "If there is any damage caused to the contact surface, then the train would not be able to operate. It would have taken a whole day to set it right and impact train operations along the route. Hence, it is important to safeguard the system," he said.

Staff from the electrical department of the Bengaluru Division removed the clothes hanging from the wires.

Bengaluru Divisional Railway Manager Shyam Singh did not respond to calls or messages in this connection.

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR PUTIN'S UKRAINE ADVENTURE

In a completely unjustified demonstration of regional hegemony, Russia on Thursday launched a massive invasion of Ukraine. Under the false flag of protecting civilians in rebel-held territories, it launched a series of missile and artillery strikes, later claiming it had taken out Ukrainian defence systems. Thumbing his nose at the UN Security Council that was in a last-ditch session to make better sense prevail, Russian President Vladimir Putin sent battle tanks rolling into the highways of Ukraine not only from his land borders but also from that of his puppet state Belarus. In an ominous warning to the US and NATO that he was prepared to deploy hypersonic missiles, he said weapons without parallel have been put on combat duty. And with NATO refusing to put boots on Ukrainian soil, the nation's military doesn't have a ghost of a chance against the infinitely superior invader. Obviously, the crippling economic sanctions that the US, the UK and the EU have started imposing mean little to a despot with an elephantine ego who has no respect for international law.

Actually, Putin and his Chinese counterpart Xi Jinping are two of a kind. Both have bent their respective rulebooks to stay perpetually in power. They are warmongers out to crush neighbours into submission and have played the nationalism card to suit their supreme personal interests. Weaponising the cyberworld to poke their noses in the internal affairs of other nations is their favourite pastime. With the US and NATO showing no appetite for being a credible counterweight—the chaotic drawdown of troops from Afghanistan is the latest example—both are having a free run. It is a different matter that the diminishing profile of the US as a global cop is a positive development. But the developments are ominous for Taiwan, which can expect fresh turbulence. And the occupying Chinese force on the Ladakh border could get more aggressive.

India predictably has chosen to react cautiously. It is on good terms with both Russia and the US. That the turmoil will slow down its economy, which is partially on the mend, is a given. Besides, hardening Western sanctions could cripple defence imports from Russia. India needs to weigh options and take a position that serves its supreme national interest while not legitimising invasion.

PENSION NO WAY TO REWARD PARTY CADRE

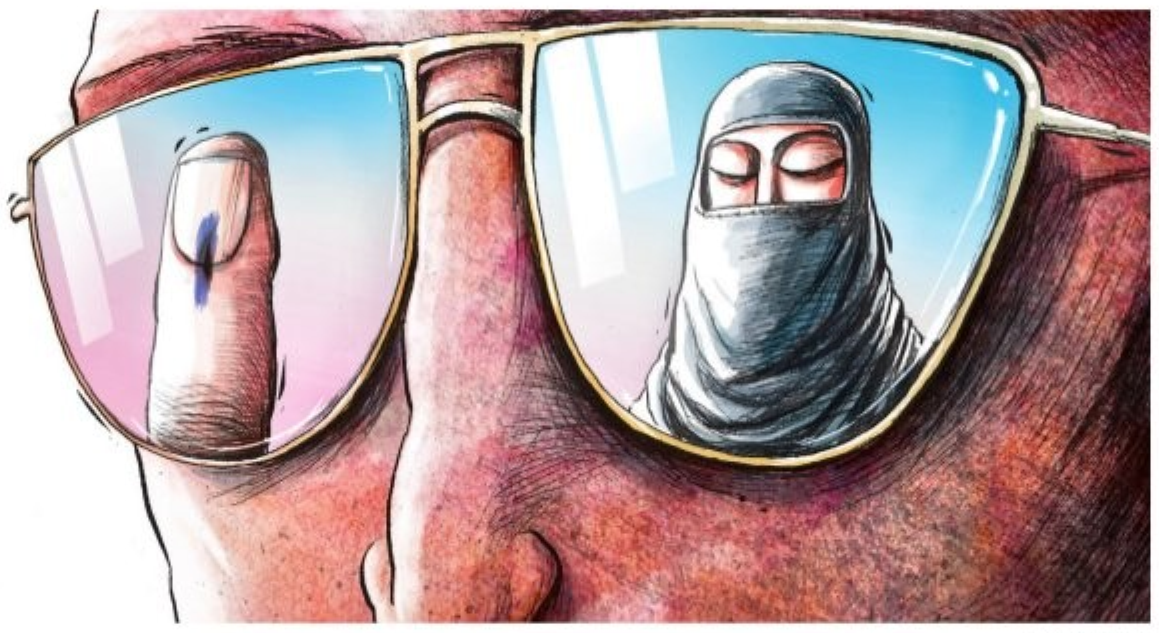
Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan has posed a pertinent question for the state's political class to answer. "Is it fair to finance cadre of political parties using public money?" he asked, questioning the practice followed by successive governments to deploy party cadre in large numbers in the personal staff of ministers. Unlike the Centre and most states, in Kerala, such persons are appointed as permanent employees on a co-terminus basis so that they would be eligible for statutory pension. While a Union Cabinet minister is entitled to a 15-member personal staff, the majority of who are on deputation from government service, in Kerala a minister can have double the number. The LDF regime has cut the personal staff strength of a minister to 25 while keeping it at 30 for the CM. In addition, the speaker, deputy speaker and chief whip can have 25 members as personal staff. Currently, there are about 400 such direct recruits in service—almost everyone is an active member of a party part of the ruling front. All of them draw handsome salaries too, ranging from ₹23,000 to ₹1,60,000.

The state exchequer shelled out ₹170 crore in the last five years for paying salaries of personal staff. In 1994, the Congress-led government, with the wholehearted support of the opposition, introduced statutory pension for all such staff who complete three years of service, that too with retrospective effect from 1982. Later, the rules were amended to include the provision for family pension so that the spouse will get the money if the pensioner dies. The pension payout for personal staff has grown 100% between 2013–14 and 2019–20. In 2013, a contributory pension scheme was introduced for government employees. Yet, personal staff of ministers whose only eligibility to be in service is their loyalty to their parties are still covered by statutory pension.

The Governor's outburst has helped invite attention to an issue buried under the carpet by the collective conspiracy of political parties. With its coffers being empty and no schemes for additional revenue generation in sight, the government needs to be prudent in spending the money it has. Doing away with pensions for personal staff will be a right step in that direction.

A state that till yesterday prided itself for being India's most global corner is poised on the edge of an eruption of tribalism

LET'S TALK ABOUT THE U.P.-FICATION OF KARNATAKA



SOUMYADIP SINHA

SANTWANA BHATTACHARYA

Resident Editor, Karnataka, The New Indian Express

Like medieval Tatar hordes overrunning some new part of the Steppes, war in distant Ukraine has taken over our mindspace out of the blue. As if we didn't have enough complicated things to fret about, now we have to cope with a changing world order and less abstract concerns like oil prices—not to speak of our domestic (and domesticated) foreign policy savants tiptoeing carefully around the elephant in the room, India's strategic muddle. At least for a long fortnight, we will occupy this news interregnum, almost finding solace in the fact that the mess is elsewhere. Till March 10 brings us back to the war in our midst.

With no prejudice whatsoever towards Goa, Manipur, Uttarakhand or Punjab—all of whom are marking important milestones in the evolution of their political histories—we can safely bet that Uttar Pradesh will be the main course on TV that night. It is the one state where election results can change the very future that India will be reaching for. But perhaps there is one fundamental debate that has already been settled by the voters of UP, and it happened even before voting started.

To grasp what that could be, think of a scenario—not a hypothetical scenario really, but one that has been realised in flesh and blood so many times that we have lost count. Its elements are familiar to us all. A provocative speech or two, perhaps being replayed on loop, a real or symbolic act of hatred, an animal carcass thrown strategically near a place of worship, slogan-shouting mobs, mobile squads of youth skilled or semi-skilled in the specialised arts of stone warfare and arson, a partisan police, curfew, unnamed bodies wrapped in the next morning's newspaper headlines.

Yes, we are talking about that strange undertaking called the Indian riot, which occupies an indeterminate space between spontaneous and choreographed. Meerut. Badaun. Colonelganj. Ayodhya. Aligarh. Muzaffarnagar. Gonda. Khurja. Saharanpur. The number of times Uttar Pradesh has hosted that familiar sequence of events is something for future chroniclers to tabulate. And the election rhetoric this time, as also the last few times, has been redolent in that imagery.

But notice something conspicuous? Not a leaf has stirred in the cane fields of the Doab, the kasbas of Rohilkhand or the alleys of Banaras. Yes, the mandate will rest on wafer-thin vote swings, and it's a wide open game. But as we said, Uttar Pradesh has already voted on at least one fundamental thing. It has shown remarkable resilience against all attempts to create a Hindu-Muslim binary.

Wherever you look, whichever street that roving TV microphones pick up ambient sounds from, the vox populi is loud and clear: UP is interested in livelihood issues. Education, jobs, pensions, farm incomes, stray cattle, what have you. Whoever wins the Assembly polls, the people of UP seem to have already won a battle. The mood was set in western UP—most prone to communal strife in recent years—where Jats and Muslims came together in protest against three farm laws. As of now, the people have managed to set the agenda, not the political parties.

Instead, where do you hear of communal tension, if not in poll-bound UP? Why, Karnataka, of all places. First, the sleepy coastal town of Udupi came close to exploding, then the whole state followed suit, as if a chain of deadly firecrackers had been placed all along the Ghats and the Deccan plateau, and finally it fell upon Shivamogga to hit the headlines with the murder of a young Bajrang Dal activist, and a near-riot. Peace, defined negatively as the absence of actual street wars, is now enforced by the jackboots of paramilitary forces.

It is almost as if Karnataka has been UP-fied, while UP itself looks to a different future. No great ethical turn brought this about. Uttar Pradesh has perhaps seen enough, and had enough—it has crossed saturation point. In a way, the north's body politic, infected so often by communalism, has developed some immunity. And the virus, in search of more vulnerable hosts, has migrated south.

Thus it comes to be that a state that till yesterday prided itself for being India's most global corner—with 'Bangalored' even entering the global lexicon as a signpost of the new economy—is poised on the edge of an eruption of tribalism. Its new symbols, a slogan-shouting, burqa-clad Muskan and a dead Harsha, are both children of Karnataka. Barring a few girls who walked hand-in-hand with their hijab-clad classmates, in a heartening sight that went viral, the state's PU students could not unite like the farmers of Uttar Pradesh did. It's a Karnataka very different from what its great minds may have visualised in the last century.

March will bring a verdict on both Udupi's hijab row, on which the arguments in the High Court were concluded, and the contest in UP. Both will have constitutional and political ramifications beyond their territories. UP, by virtue of its sheer size, will still decide the course of party politics in India. But the deeper political consequences may flow from the decision on how uniform we are going to be. Karnataka, the IT pioneer, is now a political startup. Let's just hope that when a western traveller says in the future that there was a state in southern India where he saw very many unicorns, the world doesn't think he was making up a fanciful myth.

RETHINKING THE WILDLIFE PROTECTION STRATEGY

MADHAV GADGIL

Eminent ecologist who headed the Western Ghats Ecology Expert Panel

The government has come up with an amended Wildlife Protection Act (WLPA) and called for public responses. This is therefore the time for us to demand a relook at our flawed wildlife protection regime that has precipitated a humongous human-wildlife conflict throughout India. Under WLPA, people are not free to defend themselves against marauding animals as even driving them out of their homes and crop fields needs official permission. Yet the Indian Penal Code, Sections 100 and 103, sanction voluntarily causing death or any other harm to the wrongdoer if: 1) An assault by the wrongdoer may reasonably cause apprehension that death or grievous hurt will be the consequence; 2) If the offence involves the wrongdoer committing house or property trespass or robbery. Wild animals attack people, kill them and damage their property, and a senior police officer and a High Court judge have told me that WLPA is constitutionally invalid.

No other country has such a senseless act and bans hunting outside national parks, wildlife sanctuaries or game reserves. Hunting of some endangered species like wolves may be banned everywhere, but even that is actively encouraged with a bounty in the state of Alaska. Britain has shooting estates where as many as 12,300 wild mammals and birds are killed every day. Britishers and Americans shoot elephants, lions and impalas on game ranches in Africa to take home thousands of trophies.

There is an intrinsic tendency for animal numbers to increase unless checked by factors such as predation, diseases, limitation by resources like food or nesting holes, and accidental mortality such as through floods or landslides. Humans have played a dominant role in controlling wildlife populations since their origin three lakh years ago as group hunters on savannas of Africa. Indeed, hunting, whether for trophies or for the pot that WLPA criminalises, is a part of human heritage. Today, many Africans hunt bushmeat and Swedes hunt moose to consume as food.

Hunting had continued in India till the promulgation of WLPA in 1972 with Maharajas minting money inviting European tourists to hunt as their guests on their own game reserves. Naturally, with total cessation of hunting in India, the numbers of wildlife species have skyrocketed over the last 50 years, and the smart animals have learnt not to fear man. It is true that their habitat has been encroached upon, especially by urbanisation, highways, railways and mining, but even in cases where it is well-maintained as with Pench, Tadoba and Mudumalai Reserves, the tigers are now spilling out and killing people. So, more than a thousand people are killed by wild animals like elephants, panthers, tigers and sloth bears while tens of thousands are injured each year in India. Losses of crops and property run into thousands of crores. This is a crude estimate since the details are shrouded in a cloak of obfuscation.

The fudging of data by forest departments to hide corruption while blaming the people was strikingly brought out in the case of Sariska Tiger Reserve where these big cats had not been sighted since 1999. But forest department bosses were claiming that there were still 17 tigers in Sariska even in 2004. In response, the CBI undertook a two-month investigation and declared that no tigers were left in the reserve. Poaching was blamed for the disappearance of tigers. But who were the poachers? The CBI concluded that forest officials were undoubtedly involved. The skinned carcasses of the tigers were left lying around stinking for days. It is impossible that the officials would not have noticed all these carcasses and they were surely involved in the poaching racket. On the ground, all that happened was that the foresters rounded up and beat up many people from surrounding villages accusing them of being poachers, and, of course, no bureaucrat was ever held accountable.

Indeed, using the weapon of WLPA, a tyrannical regime controlled by the forest departments, has come to prevail all over our country. This oppression is counterproductive and has led to India sinking in the world rankings to 177 out of 180 in environmental performance and 139 out of 149 in happiness. We must therefore take a leaf out of Swedes, who declare that wildlife is a renewable resource that should be managed through regulated hunting involving decentralised decision-making by empowering local stakeholders.

India is a pluralistic country with a diversity of cultures and ways of making livelihoods, associated with a variety of food habits and taboos. Today some groups of Indians eat not only goat and chicken but also dogs and monkeys, and no one has a right to impose their own food preferences on other citizens of the country. Our people at the grassroots are motivated to protect the environment and have many still living traditions of conservation. Ensuring that they can play their rightful role in our democracy is the challenge before us. If wild animals come out of national parks, sanctuaries and reserve forests, people of concerned local bodies should have the right to either demand payment for tolerating them or cull them and use the various body products as they wish. They may want to eat wild pig meat and establish a cottage industry to make hairbrushes from pig bristles. They may wish to protect monkeys as sacred animals and demand payment for conservation services; alternatively, they may cull monkeys, hygienically pack their meat and sell it to the Chinese or Africans. They may decide to make good money selling the tiger skin or its head as trophies, or ivory or elephant head trophies to Americans where they are in demand. What our country desperately needs is a full and fair play of reason, good sense and tolerance.

Kyiv should not go Af way

With Russia flexing her muscles against Ukraine, the world community led by the UN must ensure that Kyiv doesn't go the Afghan way. Usually, after an invasion, the aggressor, the forces that gatecrash to ward off the invasion and the armed homegrown insurgents leave the beleaguered nation beyond repair, and dangerous to the world.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Adopt conciliatory tactic

It's an unfortunate moment for the entire world that the Russia-Ukraine conflict has escalated into a full-blown war. It's the most inopportune time as the world is still recovering from the deadly pandemic. The moment Russia recognised two provinces of Ukraine as independent countries, the world sensed the imminence of war. Despite this development, the West and its European allies have toughened their stance with more sanctions against Russia, rather than resorting to persuasion and negotiation. India has been in a tight spot on the diplomatic front as it cannot afford to lose a trusted friend on one side and a useful ally on the other.

Putin played wrong card

Russia has chosen war over peace by launching an early-morning attack on several Ukrainian cities, destroying many defence establishments and killing hundreds of people. Putin has played the wrong card, which will lead to a colossal economic loss not only for Russia but also the world over. All peace-loving countries should condemn this invasion unequivocally and join hands to work out ways to preserve peace.

Engage in dialogue

This is with reference to Quad takes another step forward (Feb 24). The article vividly points out the group's shift in focus regarding the issues that the Indo-Pacific countries are facing. As the author rightly explains, the Quad must engage in dialogue with ASEAN and other countries in order to stand firm in security.

Loss of a versatile actor

Malayalam cinema lost one of its most admired stars in the passing away of K P A C Lalitha. A veteran of over 500 films, Lalitha was an artiste who could slip into the skin of diverse roles with consummate ease. The two-time National Award winner also dabbled in films in other languages and was also acclaimed for her roles in TV serials as well. A past president of the Kerala Chalachitra Parishad, Lalitha worked with almost all top directors in the industry and matched strides with three generations of actors from Sathyan and Prem Nazir down to Mammootty and Mohanlal to Dulquer Salmaan and Fahadh Faasil.

Indian students taking shelter in bunkers narrate horror stories unfolding in Ukraine war zones

ANKITA UPADHYAY @ New Delhi

SOME of the Indian students stranded in Ukraine are a little too close to the war. Many of them are in Kharkiv and Odessa. Both places have witnessed airstrikes. Authorities have asked them to move to bunkers.

Inside the overcrowded bunkers — some real and some makeshift like tube stations and basements — they are waking up to explosions. Some have seen fighter jets roaring through the sky. Some even say that rockets landed in places nor far from where they are.

Aousaf Hussain, a 26-year-old MBBS student in Kharkiv in north-east Ukraine, said the army is all over the city. Having heard explosions since the morning, he and his friends decided to stay spend the night at Naukova metro station, with local residents. He is from Kerala.

"I first went to a bunker made during Second World War era. But it dimly lit and overcrowded. There was a mother with her young baby in a pram. I don't know how they are managing. I then moved to the metro station," Hussain told The New Indian Express.

Aousaf said he started making videos of the military conducting marches on the streets, but when they spotted him they yelled and asked him to delete it. He added that no one from the Indian embassy has come to their rescue so far. They are completely on their own. "Around 150-200 students are there in the metro station."

Students in Odessa, in the southern part of the country, also reported shelling and bombing. Some even captured these scenes on camera. "About 5-10 kms from our place, massive shelling took place and the sky turned black," said Kuldeep Singh, a 24-year-old student of National Medical University. He is from Uttar Pradesh.

Vishal Yadav, a third-year student in Odessa from Varanasi, does not know what future has in store. "The situation is tense. An emergency has been declared. News channels are saying that the Russian army wants the Ukraine army to surrender. We are also hearing people are being killed. It's scary," he said.

West Bengal's Anindya Sekhar Bhadra, a third-year MBBS student in Vinnytsia, woke up to a loud explosion near her hostel. Vinnytsia is in west-central Ukraine. "There is a military base where the explosion took place. A cloud of fear has covered the sky of Vinnytsia. Locals are leaving for safer places," said Bhadra.

People in Kharkiv have been asked to take shelter. "Authorities asked us to stay in bunkers, which in our case is the basement of our hostel, Airstrikes by Russia have started. I came here 15 days ago to complete my admission process. The situation is tense but we are safe so far," said Pratik Jondhale of Nasik.

Zafar Ali, from Kashmir's Baramulla, was not very far from a place where a rocket landed. He is stuck in Odessa. "Panic gripped all of us after a rocket landed about a kilometre from our university. Fear is growing with each passing moment," Zafar said. He is among the 20 students from J&K in Odessa.

FIGHT TO FIND FOOD, WATER & CASH

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA & ANKITA UPADHYAY @ Ahmedabad/New Delhi

PLANNING to return to India, they were hopeful of catching a flight back home. Then came the news that war had broken out. Ukraine's airspace was closed. Having nearly exhausted food items knowing that they were headed home, they suddenly find themselves with little to eat. Buying food is difficult also because not many groceries and malls are open. To make matters worse, even ATMs are not working.

Indian students in Ukraine are going through a nightmare. Jahanvi Thaker, a student from Ahmedabad, said the situation is getting serious. "Since we thought we were leaving for India, we had emptied all necessary food items. Now, it is difficult to find food. Being a vegetarian makes it tougher. Most grocery stores are empty. We have contacted the embassy." she said.

Drashti Navle, a final-year medical student from Ahmedabad, said panic buying has started, making the situation worse. "People are flocking to shopping malls. Since nobody knows when this will end, everybody is trying to suy everything."

Access to money has also become a problem. According to Ghaziabad's Ahmed Javed, this is making thigs worse. "Internet, ATMs and banking services have stopped working and so has the local transport system. Students have not been able to book bus or train tickets," said the 25-year-old in Odessa.

In Kharkiv, even drinking water has become a problem. "People don't drink tap water here, as it is highly contaminated. We all buy water from dedicated dispensers," said Aousaf Hussain, a 26-year-old in Kharkiv. "Like others, I also struggled to buy food and found some dry items after a long time." He was preparing for a long night. "We will sleep on the floor at a metro station. I have blankets, but the temperature often falls to 3-4 degrees at night."

They have no idea for how long they have to bear this.

'Crisis likely to impact India in many ways'

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

THE Russia-Ukraine crisis is likely to impact India in many ways, including the economy which is just emerging from the effects of Covid19 pandemic, besides putting pressure on the Indian government to balance its relations with Russia and the US.

Former diplomats with a deep understanding of the region and the evolving situation told TNIE that while they need to wait and see how the situation develops further to get a clearer picture, the crisis resulting in greater tension between Russia and the West will impact India in many ways and at various levels.

"If the US and the West gets bogged down in Europe, then the US focus on Asia, China and its maritime security will dilute a bit and that is not in our interest as we are very closely engaged with the US on Indo-Pacific initiative for maritime security," PS Raghavan, a former diplomat and ex-chairman of National Security Advisory Board of India told The New Indian Express on Thursday.

At a political level, if Russia-US, Russia-West relations become tense then India's relations with Russia become complicated. "We then have pressure from India-Russia relations and pressure from India-US relations. We had this in the past, too, from 2014 onwards and we have managed to keep our two relationships separate. So, this will be a continuous challenge at the political level," he said.

India needs to balance its reaction as it needs US' friendship, especially given the threat to Indian borders from China and its attempts to dominate the South China sea, while Russia has been its trusted ally for decades.

"India has to balance its reaction, support and everything so that you do not displease any of them and maintain their trust. You have to manage it. That is the most difficult situation for India. So far, India has managed to do it and we have called for de-escalation and resolution of the issue through discussions," said former Ambassador N Parthasarathi, a veteran diplomat with more than three decades of service in the Indian Foreign service who served as India's Ambassador to Republic of South Korea from 2005 to 2008 and to Senegal from 2008 to 2011. He hopes Russia will stop the war and get back to the discussion table.

The former diplomats also expressed concern over sanctions imposed against Russia impacting many countries, including India. "Oil prices will rise resulting in an increase in input costs and that could impact the Indian economy that is just coming out of the Covid19 impact," said Parthasarathi.

The US and the European Union have threatened extreme sanctions against Russia. "Whatever sanctions they impose will have an impact on Russia and they will also have an impact on all of us. The globe is so inter-connected economically that it is very difficult to be insulated from the impact of economic sanctions," said Raghavan.

We promptly transferred the sum on Wednesday, but neither I nor my daughter has received any air ticket to India," she said.

Ukraine ambassador expresses dissatisfaction over India's role

EXPRESS NES SERVICE @ New Delhi

UKRAINE has expressed dissatisfaction over India's position on the crisis arising out of the Russian military offensive. Ambassador of Ukraine to India, Igor Polikha on Thursday sought New Delhi's support in defusing the situation.

"We are deeply dissatisfied with the Indian position. Already 10-15 people are killed. We are asking, pleading for the strong voice of India. In this case, Prime Minister Modi ji can address Mr Putin. He can address our President. This is not the time for protocol bound statements. Your officials said they are closely watching the situation. This means nothing. India is the founder of non-alignment. We plead for the support of India. It's the moment of truth and moment of destiny," said Polikha.

'Guterres is worst Secretary General we have had for long time'

Former UK MP Nirj Deva, who ran for the post of UN Secretary General, spoke to Shahid Faridi about the Russia's attack on Ukraine and its impact on the world. Excerpts.

UN and US have failed to stop the Russian attack on Ukraine. What would it take to stop this war?
The war will stop when hard sanctions bite and Russia's economy collapses. Russia's fragile economy is based on oil, gas and diamonds. It exports no serious manufactured goods. The ill-advised war will hit Russia badly.

You have asked the UN chief to play a more proactive role. Why do you think he may succeed where the world community has failed?
The UN was set up after World War-II to stop such war, to compel nation to recognise boundaries and mutual sovereignty. The current UN under (Antonio) Guterres has been asleep. It fled the Covid crisis leaving each nation to do whatever they thought best. There was no global leadership, no global management of a global crisis. Guterres is the worst Secretary General we have had for a long time. He is pontificating from New York instead going to Kiev and showing solidarity. If he had been in Ukraine and committed to staying until the problem was resolved, if the full Security Council had met and stayed, Putin would dare not have attacked.

Do you see NATO going all-out to defend Ukraine?
Yes. It's a crucial test for NATO's relevance. It's a defensive alliance and now that must be demonstrated.

Will NATO still go ahead to induct Ukraine as member?
Putin's ambition is not to conquer and rule but to turn Ukraine into a failed state like Afghanistan. He is wrong if he thinks this will make Russia safer.

Boris Johnson is accused of putting weak sanctions. Could stronger sanctions have deterred Russia?
Stronger sanctions are coming. They will make the pips squeak.

You had said allowing Russia to redraw borders will disrupt every post colonial non-homogeneous border. Do you see trouble erupting after this?
All over Africa, colonial boundaries make no sense with tribes cut in half. Putin's action will embolden local warlords to think of themselves as tribal saviours; as Putin himself is doing, practising 18th century imperialism.

No cakewalk for BJP in temple town

Despite winning hearts over Ram temple, saffron party faces a formidable SP in Ayodhya

NAMITA BAJPAI @Ayodhya

BJP takes out a road show in Ayodhya Assembly constituency on Thursday | PTI

> PM Modi and CM Adityanath are giving shape to cultural legacies rising above the caste. But this is Ayodhya, here the equations tend to change last minute. So nothing can be predicted — Ramesh Das, priest

2017 ASSEMBLY POLL RESULT

BJP 1,07,014 Ved Prakash Gupta

SP 56,574 Tej Narain Pandey

BSP 39,554 Md Bazmi Siddiqui

CASTE CONFIGURATION
Total electorate	3,81,532
Brahmins	62,000
Thakurs	34,000
Vaishyas	51,000
Yadavs	37,000
Muslims	55,000
SCs	42,000
Others	97,000

IN the first electoral battle after Supreme Court order settling the vexed Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid issue, the temple town of Ayodhya seems to be evenly poised for a tough battle of ballots ahead. It will vote in phase-5 on Sunday.

The temple issue, which has been one of major poll planks of the saffron brigade for decades, is not so any more in Ayodhya as the temple is now coming up following the court order. However, people attribute it to the BJP saying the party never left the issue.

"I know the court order has paved way for temple construction but BJP shares our sentiments and Modiji laid the temple's foundation. I don't think any other PM would have done that personally," says Mahesh Prasad Gupta, 52, a businessman.

Iqbal Ansari, one of the litigants in the mandir-masjid dispute, feels the BJP should come again. "Rule of law is prevailing in Ayodhya. We are living amicably," he says.

Ayodhya Assembly segment is considered a BJP stronghold for it remained with the party since 1991, till the SP wrested it in the 2012 election.

While the BJP has repeated its sitting MLA Ved Prakash Gupta, SP has given ticket to Brahmin face Tej Narain Pandey alias Pawan Pandey who had defeated BJP's Lallu Singh in 2012. Pandey was defeated by Gupta in 2017. Though Gupta is facing some anti-incumbency, he seems to have an edge as people are set to vote in the names of Modi and Yogi.

With no palpable anti-incumbency in the constituency, Samajwadi Party is banking upon the caste configuration of Ayodhya. SP's core vote base here comprising Muslims and Yadavs together make a respectable 92,000 voters with Yadavs being 37,000 and Muslims 55,000. The party has strategically fielded a Brahmin eyeing some support from the community. "We are confident of support of all castes and win the seat," says Vishnu Singh, an SP member.

TNIE @ GROUND ZERO

The development work undertaken by the incumbent government is the main plank of the BJP. "Whatever the BJP government did so far for Ayodhya, no government has ever done and no one will ever do," says Dinesh Kumar Singh, a private school teacher.

Siddharth Rawat, dealing in edible oil, is not ready to acknowledge the development of Ayodhya. "Had BJP government done so much, Yogi would not have gone to Gorakhpur to contest election. He didn't have the confidence of winning from Ayodhya," reasons out Rawat. The issue of stray cattle is also being raised in debates. "Only this issue needs to be resolved as it is hitting the farmers, otherwise the government has done all-round development of Ayodhya," says Abhishek Srivatava. Ram Autar Tiwari, a farmer, feels free ration is useless and farmers are helpless due to stray animals.

Meanwhile, seers of Ayodhya stand in BJP's support. "The construction of temple has forced politicians like BSP leader SC Mishra, AAP chief Arvind Kejriwal to rush here only to draw political gains," says Mahant Raju Das, priest, Hanuman Garhi temple.

If Abdul Gaffar feels SP would win majority of seats in and around Ayodhya, Razia, coming out of a PDS shop, acknowledges facilities given by the BJP government.

Kalpana Mishra, a housewife and mother of two girls, feels safety of women is not at stake anymore. Suraiyya of Sunni Mohal locality begs to differ saying that law and order was equally good in SP regime.

However, the pain of having sacrificed Babri Masjid still lingers on. "It will always be there till we are alive," says Haji Yusuf Qureshi.

ST TAG DEMAND HOT POTATO FOR MANIPUR PARTIES

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Imphal

A huge election issue in Manipur will remain invisible: It is the demand for the Scheduled Tribe (ST) status for the majority Meitei community. The Meiteis are dominant in two-third of the 60 constituencies across the Imphal Valley.

In the Imphal Valley, however, Meitei intellectuals and people on the streets are debating for and against the ST status demand.

Yambem Laba, a former chairperson of the Manipur Human Rights Commission, is now the advisor to the Scheduled Tribe Demand Committee Manipur. Laba believes that although most Meiteis are Hindus, they still follow the old tribal system.

"Till 1935, the Meiteis were entered in the census of India as ST. In 1949-50 when the Constitution was drafted, former Assam Chief Minister Gopinath Bordoloi and JJ Nichols Roy of Meghalaya came to Manipur and asked whether the Meiteis wanted to be included as ST. They took the opinions of just three people – two Brahmins and a Sanskritised Meitei. They said how we can become ST because of the socio-economic lifestyles of the tribals," Laba said.

His said there was no "social mixing" between the Meiteis and the tribals in the olden days. "The two Brahmins said we are a superior community," Laba said, adding, "but our tribal traits and customs are still there. We are Hindus but still follow the old tribal system."

"My concept is political for us. We are controlling Indian sports. So, if we become ST, we can produce over 100 bureaucrats and police officers in India in 10 years' time. We can get a lot of jobs across categories," he argued. The reason for the demand is retaining power for a community in a shrinking geographical area.

"Meiteis, as a race, used to control areas up to Chindwin in Myanmar and Surma Valley in Bangladesh. Now, Meiteis are confined to 8% of Manipur's area. Tribals are infiltrating Imphal by putting up candidates in polls," he said.

But few appear as determined as Laba. Prof L Rajen of Manipur University does not support the ST demand. "Any form of such an arrangement will not be good in the long run. We need a certain mechanism where different competing groups agree to certain things," said Rajen.

According to him, the demand for ST status is not because the Meiteis want jobs in the Central sector, but more importantly, because they can't buy land in hill areas.

"If the Manipur Land Revenue and Land Reforms Act can be tweaked, there cannot be any concern surrounding ST. People among Meiteis opposed to the ST status demand strongly feel that we have made achievements in the Indian political and social systems. We need to compete with the general category people. We are doing well in other areas. We have over 500 officers in the Army," said Rajen. He added that Hinduism has contributed a lot to the Meitei society.

TNIE @ GROUND ZERO

Sensitive issue for all

Manipur is a mosaic of communities, making the demand a hot potato for all parties. Also, the issue threatens to be divisive

Former police officer Thounaojam Brinda, who is contesting on a JD-U ticket, said although the ST status demand has been raised by the Meitei and Meitei-Pangal communities, there is no consensus till now. "The ST status will ensure quota in terms of administrative posts. As regards land right, I don't think it will have any effect," she said.

Md Chingiz Khan, a Pangal Muslim who is a Ph.D scholar at the JNU, New Delhi, said the Pangals need ST status because of backwardness and geographical isolation. Pangal Muslims are an ethnic community in the Imphal Valley.

Lawyer Abhi Singh is concerned about the land for Meiteis. "Our land can be bought by anybody but we cannot buy land in the hills. Ours is a small land and parts of it have already gone to other people. It is a relevant demand. Job is secondary although there is a serious unemployment problem in the valley," said Singh.

Meanwhile, Laba fears the advent of railways and the Asian highway will bring in multinationals who will buy land at a premium. "The Constitution protects land only if you are a tribal," he said.

BJP internal survey says tough fight in UP polls

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

DESPITE tall claims of BJP leaders that the party will win more than 300 seats in the Uttar Pradesh Assembly election, an internal survey by the saffron camp has found that it may not be in a comfortable position to form the next government in the state.

The realignment of the RLD with main opposition SP has been found more damaging to BJP's vote bank besides the Lakhimpur-Kheri violence against farmers allegedly involving the son of a Union minister.

The assessment also found that the party has considerable sway over Scheduled Castes and backward communities but the polarization of minorities, Yadavs and upper caste farmers in favour of the SP-led opposition has landed the ruling side in an uncomfortable position.

"The Owaisi (AIMIM) factor has not created any division of minority votes. The minorities have been found more inclined towards the SP-led opposition alliance but the BSP has gradually been dividing the votes of SCs and other extremely marginalised communities, which may give electoral benefits to the BJP after the fourth round of elections," a BJP source said.

The sources further said the SP-RLD combine has posed a major challenge in more than 150 seats which are dominated by Jat and Yadav voters.

However, a big relief for the BJP is that wherever PM Modi addresses an election rally, the party's electoral prospects improve to some extent.

The party is not banking much on the first three phases of the polls. "The second phase was basically the SP-phase. But we have started consolidating our vote bank with marathons meetings by its senior leaders," said party sources in UP.

Recently, BJP national president JP Nadda had claimed that his party would win not less than 300 seats.

However, the sources indicated that the BJP may have to look for post-poll allies to retain power in the state.

Can NPF convert Naga sub-nationalism into electoral dividends in Manipur?

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@ Ukhrul (Manipur)

A view of Ukhrul town

THE only political party that Shanshan Mashangva can relate herself to is the Naga People's Front (NPF) for the reason that it carries the 'Naga' tag.

The 22-year-old is anxiously waiting for March 5, the D-Day, when she will cast the first vote of her life. She has made up her mind to vote for "my people".

"We are Nagas and we will fight for our rights and identity through the NPF," Shanshan told this newspaper.

Most top leaders of the National Socialist Council of Nagalim or NSCN-IM hail from Ukhrul, home to the Tangkhul Naga tribesmen. The NSCN-IM is a key player in the Centre's peace dialogues with the Naga extremist groups.

Shanshan is not the only one concerned about the 'Naga' issue. Yuimi Yangya (20), also a first-time voter, wants the Centre to resolve the protracted problem early.

Deuleng Ruivah (35) takes pride in the fact that he hails from Somdal, the birthplace of NSCN-IM general secretary Thuingaleng Muivah, the outfit's chief negotiator. .

Somdal falls under the Chingai constituency and is represented by the NPF. Ukhrul was also with the NPF until the party losing the seat to the Congress in 2017. "I am sure it will be a neck and neck fight between the NPF and the NPP (National People's Party) in Chingai," Ruivah said.

As for Ukhrul, the locals anticipate a straight contest between the NPF and the Congress. Mangang Raman, a Naga leader from Ukhrul, insisted the Nagas elect "our own people". "Some people say there are no Nagas (in Manipur). In order to prove them wrong, we need to elect our own people and own party which is the NPF," Raman said.

While most voters are concerned about the Naga issue, there are some who want the development of infrastructure. Dr Pamreila, the district malaria officer, said Ukhrul has one district hospital, six primary health centres and one community health centre but it needs more.

"The Ukhrul district has a population of 1.52 lakh and there are 97 villages. People can't come to the district hospital from far-flung areas for treatment. I feel we need more hospitals with proper facilities besides schools, colleges, etc." the doctor said.

She was, however, not convinced the NPF can play a role in it. "Even if all of them get elected, they cannot form the government," she said.

Of Manipur's 60 seats, 20 are straddled across the hill districts. Eleven of them are considered "Naga seats" as the Nagas are in a large majority. The NPF has fielded candidates in 10 of them. "We are expecting not less than eight seats. There is the unresolved Indo-Naga issue that is dragging on for so many decades. People are with us," Wungnaoshang A Shimray, NPF's Ukhrul division president, said.

Centre mulls psychological evaluation of CAPF asst commandant candidates

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE central government is mulling psychological evaluation of candidates for the post of assistant commandant in the Central Armed Police Forces (CAPFs), according to sources in the Union ministry of home affairs (MHA). The proposal comes amid an increase in incidents of suicides and fratricides in the CAPFs.

A senior MHA official said the current syllabus and pattern of examination is being studied and the Defence Institute of Psychological Research (DIPR) has been roped in to help design a blueprint to assess the psychological abilities of the candidates. The official added that the syllabus and pattern of the examination has remained untouched for around two decades.

Besides introducing ways to assess the psychological wellbeing of the candidate, the ministry is also considering to analyze the technical and cyber knowledge of the candidates. In the current examination, there is not much emphasis on cyber and digital knowledge but insurgent-affected areas like Kashmir and Northeast and Naxal-affected areas require one to have a fair cyber knowledge, an official said.

The CAPFs comprise the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), Border Security Force (BSF), Central Industrial Security Force (CISF), National Security Guard (NSG), Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP), Sashastra Seema Bal (SSB), and National Security Guard (NSG).

SGPC objects to removing turban of baptised Sikh girl in Bengaluru

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

> Sikhs respect all regions and pray for 'Sarbat Da Bhala'. At the same time, no Sikh can tolerate disrespect to our religious symbols as these are our pride
>
> Sukhbir Singh Badal, SAD president

AMID the ongoing controversy over girl students wearing hijab in Karnataka schools, a baptised Sikh girl was told to remove her turban by a Bengaluru college citing the high court order banning religious attire in education institutions. Terming the move "unconstitutional", the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) has raised strong objection and sought the intervention of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) has demanded that Karnataka chief minister should intervene in the matter and issue necessary instructions.

SGPC president Harjinder Singh Dhami said they will not tolerate that Sikhs are forced to take off their turban in their own country. "It is an unconstitutional decision, which will never be accepted. Forcing anyone to take off their turban is a violation of Sikh traditions and principles," he said.

Dhami sought the intervention of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and also urged the Karnataka government to take stern action against the perpetrators of this "heinous act".

The SGPC has written to Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai asking him to ensure preservation of religious freedom of Sikhs in the state and also reminding him of the contribution of Sikhs to the country.

"Strictly demanded the Karnataka to take action against the people who committed such an act," he said.

Meanwhile, SAD president Sukhbir Singh Badal tweeted that Sikhs respect all regions & pray for 'Sarbat Da Bhala'. "At the same time, no Sikh can tolerate disrespect to our religious symbols as these are our pride. So, I would strongly urge Karnataka CM @BSBommai to intervene in B'luru college row & issue necessary instructions."

The 17-year old baptised Sikh girl was asked to remove her turban at Mount Carmel PU College in Bengaluru in accordance with the February 10 High Court's interim order.

The college authorities also informed the father of the Sikh girl about the situation and her family informed the college that she would not take off her turban and they would seek a legal opinion on the issue.

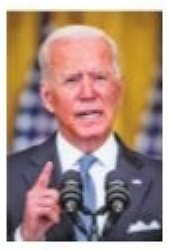
PANIC AS UKRAINIANS WATCH WAR ARRIVE

- At dawn, Ukrainians' uneasy efforts at normality were shattered
- As the day progressed alarm rose across Ukraine, forcing many to move to safer areas

'UNPROVOKED AND UNJUSTIFIED'

WORLD LEADERS REACT TO ATTACK ON UKRAINE

UNITED STATES



"The prayers of the entire world are with the people of Ukraine as they suffer an unprovoked and unjustified attack by Russian military forces," President Joe Biden said on Thursday. He warned "Russia alone is responsible for the death and destruction this attack will bring." "The world will hold Russia accountable," he declared.

EUROPEAN UNION

"In these dark hours, our thoughts are with Ukraine and the innocent women, men and children as they face this unprovoked attack and fear for their lives. We will hold the Kremlin accountable," European Union chiefs Ursula von der Leyen and Charles Michel said. Foreign policy chief Josep Borrell said Russia would face the "harshest sanctions" the EU has ever imposed.

BRITAIN

"I am appalled by the horrific events in Ukraine and I have spoken to President Zelensky to discuss next steps," PM Boris Johnson tweeted. He later called Putin a "dictator" facing "massive" sanctions for his "attack on democracy and freedom in east Europe and around the world."

CHINA

Foreign Minister Wang Yi told his Russian counterpart Sergei Lavrov in a phone call that China understands "Russia's reasonable concerns on security issues", China's foreign ministry said. The foreign ministry repeatedly declined to call the attack an "invasion" at a press briefing on Thursday.

FRANCE

President Emmanuel Macron said Russia's "act of war" was a "turning point in the history of Europe". He said the G7 and the EU would be "without weakness" when they agree on sanctions after Moscow inflicted "the most significant damage on peace in Europe for decades."

KYIV

THE missile fragment pierced the ceiling of Mikhail Shcherbakov's apartment in Kharkiv. In an instant, Ukrainians found that war, after weeks of warnings, had hit home.

"I heard noise and woke up. I realised it sounded like artillery," Shcherbakov said. He jumped from the couch and ran to wake his mother, and something exploded behind him. The missile left a nearby computer and teacup shrouded with dust, instant artifacts of Europe's latest war.

At dawn on Thursday, Ukrainians' uneasy efforts at normality were shattered. Smoke rose from cities, even well away from the country's disputed eastern border. A morning commute turned into lines of cars waiting at fuel stations or fleeing from the gray and drizzly capital, Kyiv. People with luggage took shelter in the subway, unsure of where to go.

Some panicked immediately. Others clung to routine, with irritation. "I'm not afraid. I'm going to work. The only unusual thing is that you can't find a taxi," one resident complained, even as sirens wailed.

Many seemed unsure of how to react. "I'm not scared at the moment. Maybe I'll be scared later," resident Maxim Prudskoi said.

In Mariupol, the Azov Sea port city that many fear will be the first major target because of its strategic importance, similar confused scenes of routine and fear played out. Some residents waited at bus stops, seemingly on their way to work, while others rushed to leave the city that is only about 15km from the front line with the Donetsk People's Republic, one of two separatist-held areas recognised by Russian President Vladimir Putin as independent this week in a prelude to the invasion.

As the day progressed, alarm across Ukraine rose. People crowded grocery stores and ATMs, seeking supplies and cash. In Kharkiv, worried residents inspected fragments of military equipment strewn across a children's playground. Kyiv Mayor Vitaly Klitschko called on the city's 3 million people to stay indoors unless they worked in critical sectors and said everyone should prepare go-bags with necessities such as medicine and documents.

For weeks, President Volodymyr Zelensky had tried to moderate expectations of aggression by Russia, even as warnings by the US became more urgent. Zelensky argued that panic would lead to societal destabilisation that could be as much of a tactical advantage for Russia as the estimated 1,50,000 troops that had massed on Ukraine's borders.

On Thursday, as the president imposed martial law, Ukrainians realised with a jolt that everything might change. "I feel panic, scared and excited. I don't know who I should ask for help," said Kyiv resident Elizaveta Melnik. "We didn't believe this situation would come." AP

Aviation, auto sector in a fix as oil hits $105/barrel

High oil price, poor passenger traffic and prolonged war can prove fatal for airlines; among Indian carriers, Air India and Vistara fly to Europe

For airlines, ATF or jet fuel accounts for up to 40% of operating cost. At ₹90,519.8 and ₹88,987.2 in Delhi and Mumbai, respectively, the prices of jet fuel is already at record level.

THE Russia-Ukraine conflict is set to have a negative impact on oil-dependent aviation and auto sector. For airlines, ATF or jet fuel accounts for up to 40% of operating cost. At ₹90,519.8 and ₹88,987.2 in Delhi and Mumbai, respectively, the prices of jet fuel is already at record level and a further increase will be a very unwelcome sign for the industry as well as consumers.

"Brent crude prices have averaged at about $90 per barrel so far in Q4, as against $79 per barrel in Q3, and is expected to go up due to Russia-Ukraine tensions. This will have an impact on domestic airlines' CASK (cost per available seat kilometres) which has just started to see recovery from the third wave of Covid-19," said a senior aviation analyst.

Rating agency ICRA in a recent note said that a major concern that continues to be a drag on the aviation sector is the aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices, which have seen a sharp increase of 59.9% on a Y-o-Y basis till Feb 2022. "It is mainly attributed to increase in crude oil prices. This, coupled with relatively low capacity utilisation of aircraft fleet, will continue to weigh on the financial performance of Indian carriers in FY22," it added.

However, it is the foreign airlines, especially the ones operating in Europe, which will face maximum damage. At present, they are not allowed to fly over Ukrainian and neighbouring nations' airspace. High oil price, poor passengers traffic and a prolong war can prove to be too fatal for airlines. As for Indian carriers, only Air India and Vistara fly to Europe.

The conflict can also impact tourism sector, especially when India is about to resume regular operations of international flights. "It will not only impact charters from the region but will also impact other outbound and inbound travel from the region to India and will create an uncertain outlook in the eastern Europe region and Asia," said Aashish Gupta, Consulting CEO, FAITH.

While four-wheeler industry can survive the price hike to some extent with limited impact, it is the price sensitive two-wheeler industry that would face maximum heat.

UPWARD TREND

Base metal prices may surge further

THE base metal prices, which have been on an upsurge since 2021, may further get a boost by the latest Russia-Ukraine crisis. Disruption in supplies from Russia, which produces 6% of the world's aluminium and 7% of mined nickel, may push prices further up.

"Lower inventories in metals along with strong consistent demand has been already supporting the backdrop, and with the latest trigger, it looks like the metal has got some more feet to rally," says a Motilal Oswal analysis.

Base metals like aluminium and nickel are in huge demand as consumption from sunrise industries like EVs, solar panels, etc have been on the rise.

Rahul Sharma, CEO, Vedanta Aluminium, says that though their production would not be impacted as the company neither procures or supplies to Russia, but he admits that globally Russia plays a significant role in aluminium market as it has a capacity of around 4 billion tonne out of 70 billion tonne global capacity.

Ukraine is also a major producer of steel, iron ore, and Uranium. ENS

Sanctions on Russia likely to disrupt India's trade with CIS region

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE ongoing tussle between Ukraine and Russia can disrupt India's trade with European Union, Russia and other CIS (Commonwealth Independent States) counties.

India's total trade with these regions/countries is around $90 billion per annum. Experts believe the main problem will arise once the western countries put wider sanctions on Moscow as these sanctions can disrupt shipment movements and supply of fuels.

"Indian exporters are not overtly reliant on Russia per se (~1% of total exports), so western sanctions on Russia are not expected to destroy any direct demand. Similarly, Russia accounts for about 1% of our import bill. It ranks quite low among nations that supply oil to India. However, the derived risks can become pronounced with heightened crude and metal prices and India's low inventories. A 3-month long conflict and corresponding high crude prices could inflate our trade deficit by an addition 200 bps at the very least," said Debopam Chaudhuri, Head, Research and Ratings-TruBoard Partners.

In terms of bilateral trade, India imported worth $6.9 billion and exports worth $2.5 billion in the first nine months of FY22 from Russia. It mainly imports fuels, mineral oils, pearls, precious or semi-precious stones, nuclear reactors, boilers, machinery and mechanical appliances. It exports items like pharmaceutical products, electrical machinery and equipment, organic chemicals and vehicles from Russia.

India's trade with Ukraine is about $372 million in the April-December period. The top commodities exported by Ukraine to India were fats and oils of vegetable origin (73.3%), fertilizers (10.6%), nuclear reactors, boilers, machinery (5.2%). Main Indian commodities imported by Ukraine were pharmaceutical products (32.7%), electrical machinery (7.8%) etc.

FMCG, retail to feel the heat amid rise in inflation

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

THE escalating tensions between Russia and Ukraine could lead to a major crisis across the world, not barring the FMCG and retail sector. Experts say this could worsen the inflationary pressures the sector is reeling under.

Krishnarao Buddha, Senior Category Head at Parle Products. says, it is going to have a huge effect on crude oil. "For the previous 7-8 years it had been below 100 dollars but today it has crossed the 100-dollar mark, impacting several industries in addition to the food industry. For instance, formalin oil, RBD oil will see a hike in price. Price hikes will have a huge impact on most of our products," he said, adding that vegetable oil, which is used in several other FMCG products like anti-caking agents, in making soaps etc, will also experience inflation.

"It is possible that other input materials like packaging may also have a bearing upon it. Looking at the bigger picture, all oil based products and derivatives will lead to inflation and brands will be forced to take further strides in increasing prices," said Buddha.

Akshay D'Souza, chief growth and insights officer at Retail Intelligence platform Bizom, also sees a risk in edible oil imports from the region, which is a key ingredient in many food products.

"Sanctions that might be imposed on Russia will put further pressure on oil prices that had just started cooling for India's consumers on the back of big import duty cuts over the last few months that were passed on by edible oil brands," he adds.

Kumar Rajagopalan, CEO, Retailers Association of India, says: "The escalating tensions can further push up prices and impact supply chains making them unpredictable, creating a demand-supply gap."

Avneet Singh Marwah, CEO at Super Plastronics Private Limited, also notes due to the disturbance, commodity prices can take a big hit. "Apart from that, lead time will also increase due to supply and logistics problem, as ETA of vessels around the globe will be hit badly," he said, adding sea freight prices will again spike on shortage of vessels.

Bitcoin falls below $35,000 as Russia-Ukraine war intensifies

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

ETHEREUM PLUNGES 11% TO ₹1,91,781

The most popular cryptocurrency, dropped to a one-month low. In rupee terms, Bitcoin fell nearly 8% and was trading in the red at ₹28,14,937, while Ethereum slashed 11% to ₹1,91,781

THE global cryptocurrency market capitalisation on Thursday tumbled 9.95% to $1.59 trillion in the last 24 hours, as Russia launched a military operation in Ukraine.

Fearing further price drops, crypto investors offloaded their digital assets. Bitcoin, the most popular cryptocurrency, slashed to a one-month low and was trading below $35,000 in the noon. However, it recovered back to $35,500 by 8 pm.

Other altcoins such as Ethereum and Binance Coin too fell 12% on Thursday.

In rupee terms, Bitcoin fell nearly 8% and was trading in the red at ₹28,14,937, while Ethereum slashed 11% to ₹1,91,781.

Geopolitical volatility has a broad economic impact, and crypto is not immune to this, said Ashish Singhal, Founder and CEO, CoinSwitch.

"Users must keep in mind that risk and reward go hand in hand and can be influenced by outside factors. All users must do their own research before buying any crypto," he said.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average dipped to its lowest since the start of the year as the world braces itself for a full-scale invasion of Ukraine.

Mirroring traditional markets, the crypto market capitalisation dipped into the reds as geopolitical uncertainties grew, drawing an increasingly interconnected relationship between digital assets and the financial markets, CoinDCX said.

While crypto has historically moved inversely to traditional markets—in the case of the start of the pandemic that triggered bitcoin's 2020 rally—this developing trend could be an indication of the maturation of the crypto sector and its growing position in mainstream finance, the exchange added.

Going forward, with no end in sight for the ongoing geopolitical conflict, the digital asset sector may face extended uncertainties, say experts.

However, with regulatory discussion starting to take shape, and funds allocating towards crypto more than ever before, the digital asset space is definitely one to watch out for, say experts.

Infy launches metaverse foundry

IT major Infosys on Thursday launched Metaverse Foundry that will accelerate enterprises' exploration of the metaverse. This includes virtual and augmented environments for their customers, workplace, products and operations.

Ravi Kumar S, President, Infosys, said, "The physical and virtual worlds are already smoothly and ubiquitously interwoven. The metaverse will deepen this overlap and in very experiential ways that will create abundant space for business innovation."

Infosys wants to help its clients to quickly double down on these opportunities. The company has already developed over 100 use cases and templates.

Infosys metaverse foundry puts the company's depth in business domains and expertise in immersive, interactive and experiential design to work for enterprises through its use cases, business cases and execution roadmaps.

They harness the power of technologies like AR/VR, blockchain, NFT, IoT, applied AI, cyber security and 5G to advance value exploration in the metaverse, the company said.

It pointed out that there is a template which is popular with many large enterprises. After setting up a retail experience where shoppers can explore a branded metaverse environment, they can buy products as NFTs or connect to an online checkout counter to make purchases that are delivered in the physical world.

Already IT companies such as TCS, Wipro and HCL are piloting new initiatives in the metaverse space, which is an emerging area. ENS

BharatPe audit an eye wash: Madhuri Jain

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

ASHNEER Grover's wife Madhuri Jain, who was recently terminated from BharatPe, called the ongoing governance review an "eyewash and means to an end". After her termination, in a series of tweets, Jain asked why the board is silent about GST?

The Directorate General of GST Intelligence (DGGI) on Oct 21, 2021, had conducted a search operation at BharatPe's head office. She said A&M (Alvarez and Marsal) never presented a single document to her when she was called in for investigation. "They did not present me any proofs... Where is the concept of natural justice? I have learned of allegations from the media. A&M has not till date been able to explain how their report leaked," she tweeted.

The governance review is substantiating allegations against Ashneer Grover and Jain, who was controller of finance at BharatPe, and was terminated over misappropriation of funds.

Attacking former SBI chairman Rajnish Kumar, who is also the chairman of BharatPe board, Jain wrote on twitter, "Mr Rajnish Kumar - what's the governance review process under your chairmanship where everything is leaked? Board minutes, appointments of 3rd parties, A&M report, termination letters, arbitrations? I never heard of so many leaks in your whole tenure at SBI. What's broken?" She also said that the whole thing is a conspiracy.

Both Ashneer Grover and Madhuri Jain have been raising questions over the board's appointment of a committee.

RBI's monetary panel members comfortable with inflation projections

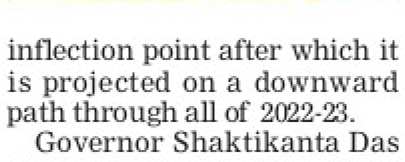
JAYANT VARMA DIFFERS

The only dissenting voice in the meeting, Prof Jayant Varma, however, was of the view that a switch to neutral stance is now long overdue, and that the continued harping on combating the ill effect of the pandemic has become counter-productive



THE members of the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) are comfortable with inflation levels in future and therefore, they decide to go ahead with supporting growth by maintaining a dovish stance on policy rates. The members of MPC also noted that the growth revival remained incomplete and uneven.

The minutes of the MPC meeting that held from February 8-10 revealed that some members were of the view that inflation in India has a different nature than that of US and Europe and therefore, the chances of spillover of high inflation in advanced economies into India is minimal.

"Spillover to CPI from high inflation in advanced economies (AEs) is unlikely since the structure of consumption is very different—imported consumer goods are 12.1% of the Indian consumption basket but 37% for the US," says one of the members Ashima Goel.

The members also argued that in regions like the EU and US, where the target inflation is 2% and current level of inflations are upwards of 5%, these countries have no option but to raise rates sooner than later. "The situation in India is not similar," they reiterated.

Michael Debabrata Patra, deputy governor of RBI, in his statement said that Inflation appears to be approaching an inflection point after which it is projected on a downward path through all of 2022-23.

Governor Shaktikanta Das in his statement during the meeting reiterated that economic recovery from the pandemic remains incomplete and uneven, and continued support from various policies remains crucial for a sustained recovery. He also said that the expected moderation in inflation trajectory over the next financial year provides room for monetary policy to remain accommodative.

The only dissenting voice in the meeting, Prof Jayant Varma, however, was of the view that a switch to neutral stance is now long overdue, and that the continued harping on combating the ill effect of the pandemic has become counter-productive.

IOC slams Russia for breach of Olympic truce

The International Olympic Committee harshly criticised Russia Thursday for violating an "Olympic Truce" with its attack on Ukraine, and said it was coordinating humanitarian assistance to Ukrainian athletes where possible. Hours after Moscow began invading its pro-Western neighbour, the IOC said in a statement that it "strongly condemns the breach of the Olympic Truce by the Russian government."

India women save their best for last

GOMESH S @ Chennai

IF there ever was a perfect game for India on the tour of New Zealand, this was it. Their first-choice front line pacers — Meghna Singh and Jhulan Goswami — were available for selection and in fact, picked wickets early in the power play and spinners broke partnerships in the middle-overs. Smriti Mandhana (71) and Harmanpreet Kaur (63), whose form was under scrutiny, scored half-centuries along with skipper Mithali Raj (54 n.o). India's next stop is a couple of warm-up matches before they take on Pakistan in their opening game of the World Cup on March 4. If they are able to have more perfect games, the runners-up from the last edition might just have yet another memorable World Cup campaign. Brief scores: New Zealand 251/9 in 50 ovs (Amelia 66) lost to India 252/4 (Mandhana 71; Jensen 1/29).

Ishan Kishan hit a 56-ball 89 to help India post 199/2 on Thursday | AP

BRIEF SCORES

India 199/2 in 20 ovs (Ishan 89, Shreyas 57 n.o) bt SL 137/6 in 20 ovs (Asalanka 53 n.o; Kumar 2/9).

IN Ishan Kishan's first match for India — against England in Ahmedabad in March 2021 — he cut loose in devastating fashion. After being watchful against Jofra Archer, he climbed into Tom Curran and England's other bowlers as he went on a boundary barrage. By the time he was done, he had hit nine boundaries in 32 balls for his 56. For the fans of the Indian team, this was thrilling to watch as they were finally playing batters apt for this format. The conservatism, it seemed, was being shed.

But the southpaw hasn't been a permanent part of the shortest format. At the T20 World Cup, he played one game. Just like a few of the other batters, Kishan wasn't backed properly. That reflected in the vast discrepancy in his international T20 numbers (striking at 110 at an average of 26.2 across eight games) compared to his domestic numbers (131.6 at an average of 28.2 across 113 matches). And after a poor series against the West Indies (85 at 27), the pressure was on him to deliver against Sri Lanka. And deliver he did under the Lucknow lights. Even though the visitors' bowling lacked the potency because of a few injuries, the southpaw showed why Mumbai Indians pushed the boat out to retain him at the IPL auctions.

Why talents like Kishan are gun in the shortest-format is their ability to keep finding the boundaries against all types of bowling at any stage of the match. Against the visitors, who ultimately limped to a 62-run defeat, the 23-year-old showed just that. His 89 off 56 (10x4, 3x6) was so brutal by the time he got out, the Sri Lankan bowlers had already lost control of the contest and were in damage-limitation mode. That's what happens when a batter like Kishan is on the rampage. He started the assault on Chamika Karunaratne for a hat-trick of boundaries all through the off-side.

VINTAGE KARUN ROLLS BACK TIME AGAINST J & K

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

Karun Nair

HAD Mayank Agarwal been available for Karnataka's second round of Ranji Trophy match against Jammu & Kashmir, Karun Nair might not even have found a place in the XI. KV Siddharth had 146 & 39 to his name in the opening round against Railways, making himself undroppable. And nobody would have questioned the wisdom behind it.

It had been a while since Karun made a century for Karnataka across formats. Let alone hundreds, there was a period where even making runs seemed difficult for Karun, only the second Indian in history to make a triple century in Tests. To be precise, since he scored four centuries in the 2017/18 season, which put him on the plane for India's Test tour to England, he has not scored a century for Karnataka.

The last time Karun showed signs of coming to form was in the Duleep Trophy in 2019 August, where he scored 99, 166 n.o, 90, 20. It gave hope to a good Ranji season, but only for him to average 26.14 in the tournament. The world was a lot different then.

And on February 24, 2022, Karun scored his first FC century for Karnataka in nearly four years as his unbeaten 152 single-handedly carried Karnataka to 268/8 at the end of Day 1 against Jammu & Kashmir at the IIT-Chemplast campus in Chennai on Thursday. "This means a lot," Karun said. "Really glad that I could make the start count and make it into a big hundred."

In the time that Karun has missed making hundreds, from being a contender for middle-order slot in the Indian Test team, he has gone down the pecking order. The next generation of players have come and overtaken him. And ahead of what is an important season for him personally, all the practice that Karun had was just one batting session at the nets. Having tested Covid positive for the second time, Karun had joined the Karnataka team in Bengaluru late after testing negative.

VENUE ISSUE

No football in Kanteerava: Sports min

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

THE Sree Kanteerava Stadium has been a bone of contention between JSW-owned Bengaluru Football Club (BFC) and the Karnataka Athletics Association (KAA). And on Thursday, when the newly relaid synthetic athletics track was unveiled during an event at the venue, Karnataka's Sports Minister KC Narayana Gowda also said that the stadium will not be used for football matches.

This comes at a time when there are talks of Indian Super League reverting to the pre-pandemic format — home and away — for next season. The last two seasons, including the ongoing one, have been held inside a bio-bubble in Goa. The minister's comment has sowed the seed of doubts for Bengaluru's home venue, but club CEO Mandhar Tamhane declined to comment, stating that he is not aware of all this (Gowda's comment). It is important to mention here that the stadium belongs to the Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports (DYES) which comes under the state government. The KAA, whose athletes train at the stadium, is not happy with how things have transpired in the past when Bengaluru played their home matches here. KAA secretary A Rajavelu made it clear that the track and field athletes should be given first priority. "This stadium is not a multi-purpose stadium. They can go and play at the football stadium which is exclusively for football. Track and field athletes should be the priority at Kanteerava. With permission from DYES, JSW can use the stadium for football on the day of the match," he said.

Pirates challenge for Delhi in PKL final

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

PKL Season 8 trophy

After more than 60 days and 130-odd matches Patna Pirates and Dabang Delhi have outclassed their opponents to set up a mega Pro Kabaddi League final in Bengaluru on Friday. Both the teams have deservedly reached the title-decider with some consistent displays.

In fact, the eighth edition has proved to be a competitive seasons with 19 tied matches. The competition has also acted as a serious preparation for the Asian Games in September. Indian players have been able to find their weak areas and their fitness status as well. Most of the Indian players, including Pawan Sehrawat (Bengaluru Bulls) and Naveen Kumar (Dabang) among others have delivered for their respective teams.

"The competitiveness of the league has been the highest it has ever been. The competition has been so tough that the Playoffs spots were decided on the last day of the league stage," said Dabang's raider Naveen. "This season has also helped us prepare for the Asian Games that are coming up and it has helped us regain that edge and fitness that we had before the pandemic," he added.

However, as of now, players will not be thinking too much ahead and rather concentrate on the title-decider. If Pirates are to win the title, they need to find a way to stop Naveen from excelling on the mat. In fact three-time champions Pirates' biggest strength lies in their unity as a team, and are also one of the most balanced sides in the league. Pirates will also be expecting a big night from Mohammadreza Shadloui. Though all eyes will be on star players, others have to contribute in the final too.
